

FINAL NUMBER THURSDAY NIGHT

Katharine Ridgeway Company
Will Complete Entertainment
Course

The next and final number of the Rhinelander Entertainment Course is the Katharine Ridgeway Company which appears in this city Friday night, April 4th. This is one of the star attractions of the year. It consists of Miss Katharine Ridgeway, reader; Mr. Ludwig G. Meyer, baritone; Miss Grace Desmond, pianist. All three are artists in their line and present an array of talent rarely seen in cities of this size.

Miss Ridgeway gives an evening of varied readings instead of an entire program of a single play or story. However, she believes that these varied selections should be linked, as it were, by a definite idea of life which in its influence is an uplift. In this connection, hundreds of press notices might be quoted if space permitted, telling not only of Miss Ridgeway's great art, but also of her great message. Also, she always carries a gospel of good cheer. Miss Desmond has played selections from Debussy before Mary Garden, and Miss Garden, who had heard Debussy many times herself, said that Miss Desmond played these selections like the composer himself. Mr. Ludwig G. Meyer, the baritone with the Ridgeway company at the age of twelve had such a remarkable voice that he was made soloist at St. Paul's Episcopal Choir at Erie, Pa.

BOY COMMITS SUICIDE

Fourteen Year Old Hiles Lad Takes
Life By Hanging

Eber Houg, aged 14 years, son of Sigvard Houg, a millwright at Hiles, ended his life by hanging a few days ago. The story of the tragedy is taken from the Crandon Echo:

A sister of the lad and a girl companion were passing by at about 8 o'clock Tuesday evening when one of them noticed Eber, who appeared to be dangling in a swing. They thought at first that he was fooling but found the boy to be hanging by his neck from a single rope the other end of which was wound around the cross piece which upheld the swing. One of the lad's feet touched the ground and the other was in the swing. Help was summoned and the rope quickly removed. The body was limp, with a little warmth in it, but life had gone.

The theory is advanced that the boy did not intend to commit suicide but was trying an experiment with the rope and that he either slipped or was suddenly frightened causing him to fall backward. Under the circumstances, however, the coroner's jury could only bring in a verdict of suicide.

The lad had not been abused in any way and was not known to be in any trouble.

ENTERTAINS COUNTY BOARD

Once again did F. E. Parker prove himself a genial host when on Wednesday night he entertained at his home on Davenport street the members of the Oneida county board. Mrs. Parker also assisted in entertaining and the evening was very pleasantly spent. Mr. and Mrs. Parker were presented with a pretty gift by the members of the board as a mark of appreciation of Mr. Parker's good services for the county while on the board and the work he is doing as highway commissioner.

LOGGING CAMPS COMPLETE WORK

Only Small Number of Woods-
men Frequent City This Spring

Nearly all the lumber camps close to Rhinelander have suspended operations and the employees are returning to their homes after a long winter's labor in the timber.

There has not been as many woodsmen in the city this year as in previous years and the few that do come here spend very little money. One merchant remarked a few days ago that the trade of the woodsmen was a small item now when a few years ago the business people looked forward to the breaking up of the camps with anticipation of a heavy rush for many days.

The old time "lumberjacks" are now nothing but a memory. They have been succeeded by men, mostly farmers, who spend the winter in the northern woods and then hasten to begin the spring work at home as soon as the camps close. These men do not let loose of their money readily and unlike the woodsmen of yore days believe in making every penny count.

It is understood that a few of the lumber companies operating in this part of the state will summer log, and in such cases their camps remain open throughout the year. The last winter as a whole has been good for the loggers and the timber cut in northern Wisconsin will compare favorably with that of recent winters.

THOUSANDS PERISH IN TERRIBLE OHIO FLOODS

Miami River Overflows Causing
Appalling Death Loss At Dayton
and Other Cities

The Miami river is overflowed, inundating Dayton, Piqua, Troy, Sidney, Carrolton, Hamilton and a dozen other Ohio cities.

Estimated number of dead at Dayton is 1,000. No definite estimate has been received from other flooded cities.

The mad river valley overflowed, flooding part of Columbus and many other towns. Delaware is flooded, reports giving 25 as dead and 400 families homeless.

MUST STOP PLAN OF GRIFFITH

Reforestation Will Prevent Settlement Of Northern
Wisconsin

The attempt by State Forester Griffith to have the legislature condemn for state forest reserve purposes much more than one and a quarter million acres in five counties of North East Wisconsin has awakened the citizenship of those counties to a realization of the danger of it, and loud protests are now being sent to our law making body to kill the scheme which if established would retard the development of our agricultural resources more than any other thing could do. The five counties involved are Vilas, Oneida, Forest, Price and Iron counties. It is proposed to rob Vilas county, that beautiful "land of a thousand lakes" of 566,000 acres. This would just about wipe that fairy land, and one of the richest garden spots in the making in the state, out of existence. Oneida is to be docked 345,000 acres which will wipe its whole north section off the map and condemn that much of the county's productivity out of existence for a hundred years to come. Forest county is to be hit to the tune of 353,000 acres. Iron county 115,000 and Price is let off with 70,000 acres. In all an agricultural empire in the making comprising 1,259,000 acres.

The intention is to plant the region in young trees that would require a century to mature a 16 foot log, provided the growth was not retarded. How futile is the whole scheme of planting young trees is proven by the fact that since the U. S. government survey was first made in 1860 or thereabouts, that is to say half a century ago, the growth of the trees, now being felled for timber averages about 6 inches by actual count of their annual growth circles. And the idea of reforestation of a limited area for a future lumbering industry in Wisconsin a century hence is puerile, considering the limited area which is to be covered and, even more, the annual cost of the Forestry Department itself, which has increased from about ten to ninety five thousand plunks in ten years. Let the patient Wisconsin taxpayer sit down and quietly figure out what all this fun is going to cost us at that rate for a century more.

With these items in view it is no wonder that the Forestry Department is trying to make some kind of a showing and get into the news papers.

It is openly suggested that the real cause underlying this Forest Reserve Scheme is the desire to maintain the happy hunting ground of North Wisconsin in its primitive state; to hold it as a sportsman's retreat. The fact that Vilas, Oneida and Forest, the best fishing and hunting region in this whole territory, is hit the hardest, is pointed out as proof of this assertion. And it would seem that the point is well taken.

The county boards of all these five counties are taking steps to put up a strenuous fight on the whole scheme and have appointed delegates to go to Madison and use all honorable means to kill this pet scheme of the forestry bureau.

The excuse given by Mr. Griffith for the proposed reserve is, that it is unfit for agriculture. Only 22 per cent of it will do, says he, and that in spite of the fact that State Farm Expert E. L. Luther of Rhinelander says that at least fifty percent is good farm land. In fact, most of our land in this section of the state is pretty much alike. There is clay loam, sandy loam, and red land, and all of it has been found to possess value for farming purposes when it is handled right. All of it will grow fine clover and wherever clover grows, there you have a good farm in the making. So the "poor land" argument will hardly do. As a her excuse that the new trees are needed to maintain the rain fall is hardly more relevant, considering our proximity to the great inland lakes. The chances are that Mr. Griffith's trees wouldn't help matters much one way or the other.

I believe all citizens of North Wisconsin are interested in what is going on, touching our most vital interests, among Madison bureaucracy. There are so many wild schemes launched, eating up millions of the people's money every year, and so many laws passed of the freak variety, that it is getting to be a serious question with the average citizen where all this is finally going to end.

I believe THE TELEGRAM'S readers all over this section should know what is going on; and that they will finally voice a protest strong enough to kill this and other schemes now sought to be introduced, of that I have absolutely no doubt whatever.

The five counties above named, in order to get time for a more thorough investigation of the whole project, have secured the introduction of a bill for the creation of a commission of 3 senators and 5 assemblymen to give the whole matter a thorough probe. It is to be hoped that the bill will pass, and all of our legislators from this North Section should give it their support.—Superior Telegram.

MILITARY ORCHESTRA POPULAR

The Military orchestra filled engagements this week at Prentice, Hackley and North Crandon. They also furnished the inspiration for the Easter ball at the Armory Monday night. The high quality of music greatly pleased the dancers and encores were long and frequent. The Military orchestra is one of the most popular musical organizations in northern Wisconsin.

HOLD A SMOKER

The Sons of Norway held a smoker at the Scandinavian hall Monday night. Henry P. Peterson of Superior, made an interesting address to those assembled. Coffee and sandwiches were served. The "Sons of Norway" are rapidly gaining in membership here.

WILL OPEN BIG TIMBER LANDS

Northwestern Line Plans An
Extension From Kopenick
To Lily

Work will soon commence on the new extension of the Northwestern line from Kopenick to Lily which will open up a territory comprising dense forests of virgin timber.

The proposed extension states the Antigo Journal will touch the finest timber in the state. The best hard wood timber in Wisconsin is in this region.

Thirty years of continued timber cutting will not exhaust the region that the proposed extension will open up. While the present plans only include a direct line spur and extensions will be built from time to time into the timber so that all the timber in this region will in time be reached by rail. The terminal point in the town of Langlade will undoubtedly be moved eastward as soon as deemed necessary.

The matter of the opening of this extension has been a pet scheme of Superintendent Quisley for the past three years and he has strongly advocated the project with the road's head officials. The work of surveying, although done by the engineers of the Ashland division was done on the orders from the head offices at Chicago which fact evidences that the importance of the extension is recognized at Chicago.

FAIR SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

Oneida Fair Will Be Held This
Year On September
16, 17 and 18

At the annual meeting of the Oneida County Agricultural Society at the court house Friday afternoon C. P. Crosby was re-elected president. Chas. Gross of the town of Crescent was made vice-president. Al. Hafner secretary, and Walter C. Liebenstein treasurer. The same board of directors was retained with the exception of George Mahoney.

Very little interest was displayed in the meeting, the attendance only numbering nine.

It was decided to hold the Oneida county fair this year in the week following the State Fair at Milwaukee. This will bring the dates about September 16, 17 and 18.

TO BOX MAHONEY

Billy Perkins To Meet Racine Wonder
In Merrill

Billy Perkins, the Rhinelander tornado, is scheduled to meet Young Mahoney in a ten round bout in Merrill sometime about April 1st. Mahoney is one of the fastest mid dleweights in the ring today. Billy is going to have his hands full when he tackles this man, but he is game to the core and says that he intends to put up one of the greatest battles of his life. With him it is not going to be another repetition of his bout with Capone. He is training hard and when he steps into the ring he will be in A. 1. condition. Maybe he will surprise the Racine wonder. Billy's friends here hope so at least and wish him success.

ELECT OFFICERS

At the annual business meeting of the Visiting Nurse Association held March 17, at the City Hall office, the following officers were elected:

President, Miss Edith Brown. Vice Pres., Mrs. Chas. B. Peterson. Secretary, Miss Edna Brown. Treasurer, Mrs. L. A. Leadbetter.

LUMBER PRICES ARE ADVANCING

Many Concerns Are Already
Sold Ahead Of Their Season's Cut

A Marinette dispatch says that although lumber prices in general have been steady and fair for a year, new high levels in prices are being reached.

The reason given is that unfavorable logging conditions in nearly every part of the country except the Wisconsin and upper Michigan district will greatly curtail the lumber supply next season. The market has figures that show greater building operations than for many years are in sight for this year. This will create an enormous demand for lumber, and with a shortage in the supply there is bound to be a strong increase in prices.

Stocks of all the big mills have been greatly decreased in the last 6 months and many concerns are already sold ahead of their season's cut. From information gathered by lumbermen it is learned that there has been a general shortage of labor in the lumber camps and lack of snow in many localities is another factor in the falling off in the supply of logs. Cams along the Mississippi river will not produce more than 60 per cent of the normal output, it is said. In the far west heavy snows have made hauling difficult and in the south rains have at times closed the logging business for weeks.

The scarcity of snow and labor has been felt in the Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota logging districts, but the Wisconsin and Michigan districts will produce more than a normal output, in contrast to most of the other districts in the country. Practically every large mill in the country is in the market for logs, most of them having heavy orders to keep. The market for low grade lumber is nearly sold out in the north in territory. This grade of lumber is consumed mainly by the box manufacturers.

Shortage of cars is laying its effect in some of the northern Wisconsin lumbering regions. Jobbers have to dock logs at an extra expense of 50 cents a 1,000 feet, and to get the logs insured is another heavy burden.

COUNTY BOARD HOLDS MEETING

State Tax Commission Falls
To Appear—Will Be
Here April 19th

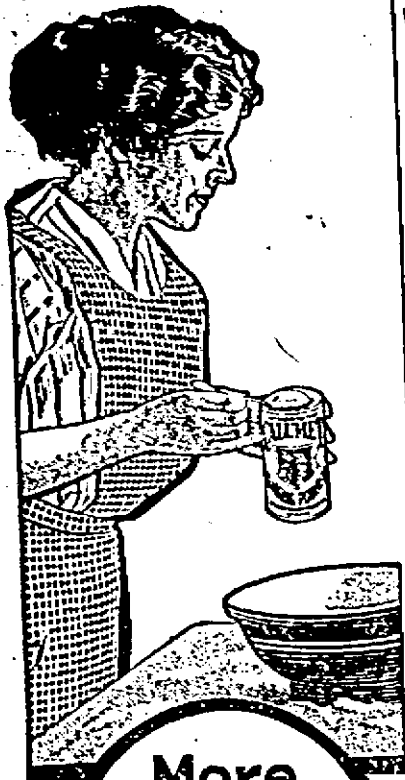

Owing to the illness of one of the members of the state tax commission that body failed to meet with the members of the Oneida county board this week at the special meeting of the board called for that purpose. It was decided to postpone the matter until April 19, when the tax commission will be able to be here.

The county board voted to give $250 to the Superior Telegram for a write-up of the agricultural resources of the county in the big souvenir edition of that paper June 1, and also for copies of the edition. This will advertise the county throughout the country. The anti-reforestation committee of the county was re-appointed for another year. They are B. N. Moran, E. W. Knapp and Harry Wubker.

F. E. Parker, road commissioner, was instructed to begin work on the new road to the western part of the county as soon as the weather conditions permit.

More Economical Both in Use and Cost CALUMET BAKING POWDER

—And it does better work. Simply follow your customary method of preparation—add a little less of Calumet than when using ordinary baking powder. Then watch the result. Light, fluffy, and evenly raised—the baking comes from the oven more tempting, tastier, more wholesome.

Calumet insures the baking of an expert. Ask your grocer to-day.

"Who Eats—Pays!"

No indoor worker can continue to eat meat three, or even twice daily, after middle life—and middle life, mark you, begins with the thirty-fifth year—without paying the penalty in an attack of gout, rheumatism, Bright's or an allied disease, a few years later. This "few years" may, in special cases, stretch itself to a score—but inevitably, "who eats, pays!"—Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette.

Destiny of America.

A nation is not a conglomeration of voters, to be represented by hungry politicians empowered to partition the spoils of office, but a people animated by a common impulse and seeking to work out a common destiny. The destiny of America is mutual service; labor is the corner stone of our nationality, the labor of each for all.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Y. M. C. A. BIG HELP TO ALL FRESHMEN

COMMITTEE AIDS MEN ON ARRIVAL AND DURING FIRST YEAR AT "U."

CALLING SYSTEM SUCCESSFUL

Social Mixers for Freshmen First Week—Visited Weekly by Adviser—Good Fellowship Keynote to All Activities.

Madison, Wis.—Last fall approximately 1,600 new students entered the university. Most of them came from the small towns and rural communities of Wisconsin.

The importance of these young men getting into the right rooming houses and of finding the right sort of other young men with whom to make their acquaintances and friends, is perfectly

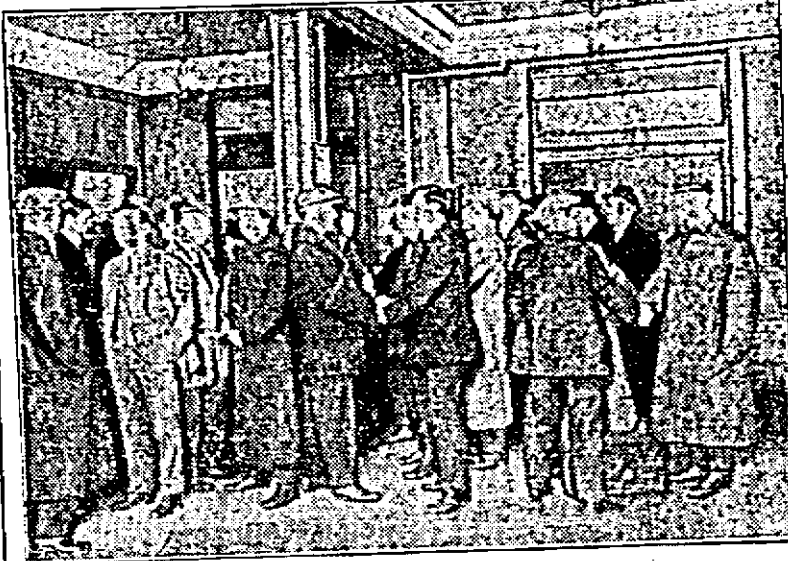

Another committee made a thorough canvass for possible jobs to help the young men who needed to earn funds to defray part of their expenses while in the university. Another big division of the committee was assigned to the meeting of all trains during registration day.

At the Y. M. C. A. committeemen were making the new students acquainted. They invited them to attend the opening association meeting on Thursday and the stag socials at the Y. M. C. A. every night the first week when they would be especially lonely. Here were brief speeches, lots of sociability and light refreshments.

Fifteen hundred students attended the All University reception. President and Mrs. Van Hise were at the head of the reception line.

However, the leaders of the University Y. M. C. A. realize from experience that this is really only the beginning and that all during the year, adjustments to the new conditions must be made which are fraught with great possibilities both for good and evil to the men who make them.

They therefore undertook to organize a calling system which could really ly evident. How, actually, did these young men get located?

The answer is simple. The University Y. M. C. A. attended to the whole business.

In the spring of 1912 practically all the twelve standing committees of the university resolved themselves into one committee on new students. Forty or fifty of the members were back several days early in the fall. They made a canvass of the houses where rooms would be available for students.

ly get results. They picked out one hundred men who, because of Christian character, interest in the new men and willingness to work, were regarded as the best men for the job. They listed all the new students in the university, and they divided them among this committee of 100, with the understanding that they were to be called upon, were to be advised in every phase of their university work, and also in regard to any personal problems. And it has worked.

ASSASSIN KILLS KING OF GREECE

While in Salonika Streets King George Receives Fatal Shot

King George of Greece was shot and almost instantly killed by a man of his own nationality while walking the streets of the city of Salonika, Wednesday accompanied by a companion.

The king, who received the bullet from a pistol, fell to the ground and with the simple exclamation "I am shot" became unconscious.

Gentle hands picked up the prostrate monarch and hurried him to the Papafion hospital, where he died inside of a half hour.

The murderer of the king was Aleke Schinase, who stated that he is a Greek. He was immediately arrested.

The assassin is of foreboding appearance and is believed by those who have seen him in prison to be insane.

Accompanied by an aide de camp, the king was proceeding leisurely along the street. He had passed an ordinary looking house when two men emerged and started to follow.

Their proximity first attracted the attention of Lieut. Col. Franconidis, who called attention to the two men. The king turned and had just faced the men when the assassin, who was now within a few feet of him, drew a pistol and fired.

The king received the shot in the heart. The assassin and his confederate started to run, but were quickly overpowered and hurried to prison.

Personal courage was the king's marked characteristic. On one occasion when an attempt was made to assassinate him while he was driving with Princess Marie, he arose to his full height in the carriage and, shielding his daughter with his body, furiously shook his cane at two men who were firing at him at close range.

The king had served at the head of the Greeks for fifty years. He is succeeded by his eldest son, Constantine, who was born on Grecian soil, Aug. 2, 1868. He is called a veritable Greek.

Will Preserve Aged Tree. On the Canandaigua lake shore highway, at Tichenor Springs, stands a venerable tree, which, experts declare, is not less than eight hundred years old. Recently improvements at this point were begun, which, it was thought, would necessitate its removal, but in response to popular protest the highway commission has decided to let it stand.—Waterloo (N. Y.) Observer.

Musical Family.

Stiggins—"Are there any musicians in your family?" Wiggins—"Rather! Why, my father is an adept at blowing his own horn, and mother is equally expert at harping on one string; main-law has to play second fiddle, and Aunt Tabitha leads a humdrum existence; grandpa gives a solo on his nasal organ every night, without the stops; uncle spends his time wetting his whistle; Harry is fond of his pipe, and Gerty is forever ringing the changes on her admirers."

Men Need Help—Not Charity. There is a higher duty than to build almshouses for the poor, and that is to save men from being degraded to the blighting influence of an almshouse. Man has a right to something more than bread to keep him from starving. He has a right to the aids and encouragements and culture, by which he may fulfill the destiny of a man, and until society is brought to recognize and reverence this it will continue to groan under its present miseries.—Channing.

Indexing Extraordinary. Indexers have been responsible for many errors, but possibly the strangest example of curious indexing occurs in a law book. Turning over its index, a correspondent of the London Chronicle noted the entry: "Best, Mr. Justice, His Great Mind," and reference to the page brought this: "Mr. Justice Best said he had a great mind to commit the witness for contempt of court."

His Part in the Affair. "Your son-in-law has a title." "Yes," replied the patient father; "but I am the one who is furnishing the expensive binding material and the gilt decoration."—Buffalo Commercial.

Cultivate Sense of Humor. A sense of humor is certainly the salt of life, either of the married variety or the plain, single existence. It certainly helps a wife to laugh off many a little bruise that otherwise would grow into a festering sore. To see the funny side of many of the trivial annoyances of life at the time they happen certainly eases the situation.

There is no wealth like unto knowledge, for thieves cannot steal it.—Burmese Proverb.

Fourteen Year Old Hiles Lad Takes

Eber Houz, aged 14 years, son of Sigvard Houz, a millwright at Hiles, ended his life by hanging a few days ago. The story of the tragedy is taken from the Crandon Echo:

LOGGING CAMPS COMPLETE WORK

Only Small Number of Woods-
men Frequent City This
Spring

Nearly all the lumber camps close to Rhinelander have suspended operations and the employees are returning to their homes after a long winter's labor in the timber.

There has not been as many woodsmen in the city this year as in previous years and the few that do come here spend very little money. One merchant remarked a few days ago that the trade of the woodsmen was a small item now when a few years ago the business people looked forward to the breaking up of the camps with anticipation of a heavy rush for many days.

The old time "lumberjacks" are now nothing but a memory. They have been succeeded by men, mostly farmers, who spend the winter in the northern woods and then hasten to begin the spring work at home as soon as the camps close. These men do not let loose of their money readily and unlike the woodmen of yore days believe in making every penny count.

It is understood that a few of the lumber companies operating in this part of the state will summer log, and in such cases their camps remain open throughout the year. The last winter as a whole has been good for the loggers and the lumber cut in northern Wisconsin will compare favorably with that of recent winters.

THOUSANDS PERISH IN TERRIBLE OHIO FLOODS

Miami River Overflows Causing
Appalling Death Loss At Dayton
and Other Cities

The Miami river is overflowed, inundating Dayton, Piqua, Troy, Sidney, Carrollton, Hamilton and a dozen other Ohio cities.

Estimated number of dead at Dayton is 1,000. No definite estimate has been received from other flooded cities.

The mad river valley overflowed, flooding part of Columbus and many other towns. Delaware is flooded, reports giving 25 as dead and 400 families homeless.

MUST STOP PLAN OF GRIFFITH

Reforestation Will Prevent Settlement Of Northern
Wisconsin

The attempt by State Forester Griffith to have the legislature condemn for state forest reserve purposes much more than one and a quarter million acres in five counties of North East Wisconsin has awakened the citizenship of those counties to a realization of the danger of it, and loud protests are now being sent to our law making body to kill the scheme which if established would retard the development of our agricultural resources more than any other thing could do. The five counties involved are Vilas, Oneida, Forest, Price and Iron counties. It is proposed to rob Vilas county, that beautiful "land of a thousand lakes" of 566,000 acres. This would just about wipe that fairy land, and one of the richest garden spots in the making in the state, out of existence. Oneida is to be docked 345,000 acres which will wipe its whole north section off the map and condemn that much of the county's productivity out of existence for a hundred years to come. Forest county is to be hit to the tune of 353,000 acres. Iron county 115,000 and Price is let off with 70,000 acres; in all an agricultural empire in the making comprising 1,350,000 acres.

The intention is to plant the region in young trees that would require a century to mature a 16 foot log, provided the growth was not retarded. How futile is the whole scheme of planting young trees is proven by the fact that since the U. S. government survey was first made in 1860 or thereabouts, that is to say half a century ago, the growth of the trees, now being felled for timber averages about 6 inches by actual count of their annual growth circles. And the idea of reforestation of a limited area for future lumbering industry in Wisconsin a century hence is puerile, considering the limited area which is to be covered and, even more, the annual cost of the Forestry Department itself, which has increased from about ten to ninety five thousand dollars in ten years. Let the patient Wisconsin taxpayer sit down and quietly figure out what all this fun is going to cost us at that rate for a century more.

With these items in view it is no wonder that the Forestry Department is trying to make some kind of a showing and get into the news papers.

It is openly suggested that the real cause underlying this Forest Reserve Scheme is the desire to maintain the happy hunting ground of North Wisconsin in its primitive state; to hold it as a sportsman's retreat. The fact that Vilas, Oneida and Forest, the best fishing and hunting region in this whole territory, is hit the hardest, is pointed out as proof of this assertion. And it would seem that the point is well taken.

The county boards of all these five counties are taking steps to put up a strenuous fight on the whole scheme and have appointed delegates to go to Madison and use all honorable means to kill this pet scheme of the forestry bureau.

The excuse given by Mr. Griffith for the proposed reserve is, that it is unfit for agriculture. Only 22 percent of it will do, says he, and that in spite of the fact that State Farm Expert E. J. Luther of Rhinelander says that at least fifty percent is good farm land. In fact, most of our land in this section of the state is pretty much alike. There is clay loam, sandy loam, and red land, and all of it has been found to possess value for farming purposes when it is handled right. All of it will grow fine clover and wherever clover grows, there you have a good farm in the making. So the "poor land" argument will hardly do. Another excuse that the new trees are needed to maintain the rain fall is hardly more relevant, considering our proximity to the great inland lakes. The chances are that Mr. Griffith's trees wouldn't help matters much one way or the other.

I believe all citizens of North Wisconsin are interested in what is going on, touching our most vital interests, among Madison bureaucracy. There are so many wild schemes launched, eating up millions of the people's money every year, and so many laws passed of the freak variety, that it is getting to be a serious question with the average citizen where all this is finally going to end.

I believe THE TELEGRAM's readers all over this section should know what is going on; and that they will finally voice a protest strong enough to kill this and other schemes now sought to be introduced, of that I have absolutely no doubt whatever.

The five counties above named, in order to get time for a more thorough investigation of the whole project, have secured the introduction of a bill for the creation of a commission of 3 senators and 5 assemblymen to give the whole matter a thorough probe. It is to be hoped that the bill will pass, and all of our legislators from this North Section should give it their support.—Superior Telegram.

MILITARY ORCHESTRA POPULAR

The Military orchestra filled engagements this week at Prentice, Hackley and North Crandon. They also furnished the inspiration for the Easter ball at the Armory Monday night. The high quality of music greatly pleased the dancers and encores were long and frequent. The Military orchestra is one of the most popular musical organizations in northern Wisconsin.

WILL OPEN BIG TIMBER LANDS

Northwestern Line Plans An
Extension From Kopenick
To Lily

Work will soon commence on the new extension of the Northwestern line from Kopenick to Lily which will open up a territory comprising dense forests of virgin timber.

The proposed extension states the Antigo Journal will touch the finest timber in the state. The best hard wood timber in Wisconsin is in this region.

Thirty years of continued timber cutting will not exhaust the region that the proposed extension will open up. While the present plans only include a direct line spurs and extensions will be built from time to time into the timber so that all the timber in this region will in time be reached by rail. The terminal point in the town of Langlade will undoubtedly be moved eastward as soon as deemed necessary.

The matter of the opening of this extension has been a pet scheme of Superintendent Quigley for the past three years and he has strongly advocated the project with the road's head officials. The work of surveying, although done by the engineers of the Ashland division was done on the orders from the head offices at Chicago which fact evidences that the importance of the extension is recognized at Chicago.

FAIR SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

Oneida Fair Will Be Held This
Year On September
16, 17 and 18

At the annual meeting of the Oneida County Agricultural Society at the court house Friday afternoon C. P. Crosby was re-elected president. Chas. Gross of the town of Crescent was made vice-president, Al. Hafner secretary, and Walter C. Liebenstein treasurer. The same board of directors was retained with the exception of George Mahoney.

Very little interest was displayed in the meeting, the attendance only numbering nine.

It was decided to hold the Oneida county fair this year in the week following the State Fair at Milwaukee. This will bring the dates about September 16, 17 and 18.

TO BOX MAHONEY

Billy Perkins To Meet Racine Wonder
In Merrill

Billy Perkins, the Rhinelander tornado, is scheduled to meet Young Mahoney in a ten round bout in Merrill sometime about April 1st. Mahoney is one of the fastest mid dleweights in the ring today. Billy is going to have his hands full when he tackles this man, but he is game to the core and says that he intends to put up one of the greatest battles of his life. With him it is not going to be another repetition of his bout with Capone. He is training hard and when he steps into the ring he will be in A 1 condition. Maybe he will surprise the Racine wonder. Billy's friends here hope so at least and wish him success.

ELECT OFFICERS

At the annual business meeting of the Visiting Nurse Association held March 17, at the City Hall office, the following officers were elected:

President, Miss Edith Brown.
Vice Pres., Mrs. Chas. B. Peterson
Secretary, Miss Edna Brown.
Treasurer, Mrs. L. A. Leadbetter.

LUMBER PRICES ARE ADVANCING

Many Concerns Are Already
Sold Ahead Of Their Sea-
son's Cut

A Marinette dispatch says that although lumber prices in general have been steady and fair for a year, new high levels in prices are being reached.

The reason given is that unfavorable logging conditions in nearly every part of the country except the Wisconsin and upper Michigan district will greatly curtail the lumber supply next season. The market has figures that show greater building operations than for many years are in sight for this year. This will create an enormous demand for lumber, and with a shortage in the supply there is bound to be a strong increase in prices.

Stocks of all the big mills have been greatly decreased in the last 6 months and many concerns are already sold ahead of their season's cut. From information gathered by lumbermen it is learned that there has been a general shortage of labor in the lumber camps and lack of snow in many localities is another factor in the falling off in the supply of logs. Camps along the Mississippi river will not produce more than 60 per cent of the normal output, it is said. In the far west heavy snows have made hauling difficult and in the south rains have at times closed the logging business for weeks.

The scarcity of snow and labor has been felt in the Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota logging districts, but the Wisconsin and Michigan districts will produce more than a normal output, in contrast to most of the other districts in the country. Practically every large mill in the country is in the market for logs, most of them having heavy orders to keep. The market for low grade lumber is nearly sold out in the northern territory. This grade of lumber is consumed mainly by the box manufacturers.

Shortage of cars is having its effect in some of the northern Wisconsin lumbering regions. Jobbers have to deck logs at an extra expense of 50 cents a 100 feet, and to get the logs insured is another heavy burden.

COUNTY BOARD HOLDS MEETING

State Tax Commission Falls
To Appear--Will Be
Here April 19th

Owing to the illness of one of the members of the state tax commission that body failed to meet with the members of the Oneida county board this week at the special meeting of the board called for that purpose. It was decided to postpone the matter until April 19, when the tax commission will be able to be here.

The county board voted to give $250 to the Superior Telegram for a write-up of the agricultural resources of the county in the big souvenir edition of that paper June 1, and also for copies of the edition. This will advertise the county throughout the country. The anti-reforestation committee of the county was re-appointed for another year. They are D. N. Moran, E. W. Knapp and Henry Wubker.

F. E. Parker, road commissioner, was instructed to begin work on the new road to the western part of the county as soon as the weather conditions permit.

SILLO NECESSARY ON THE FARM

As A Winter Feed For The Stock Silage Is Without An Equal

This is going to be a great silo year in Oneida county. Information keeps coming in that men here and there in all parts of the county will build silos this summer. Just think what it will mean to this county to have all of the feed and the very best feed that a cow can eat all winter and not be on half rations at all. Think what it will mean to farmers with small farms to be able to grow on an acre from ten to fifteen tons of corn silage so that from that acre the farmer will be able to feed a cow and a calf for two hundred days and not starve her. If we could only get 100 silos put up in this county this summer and get them filled, farm values would just about double in this season. Farmers who have not yet fallen into line for silos ought to get busy on this proposition.

Wm. Olson of the town of Pell can har finished the silage which he put up in his new silo last summer. He now has to feed about 25 pounds of hay a day to each cow and more feed than he did with silage. Counting hay at $15 a ton and silage at $4, a ton his cow ration now costs him about seven cents more than it did with the silage ration. And what is worse he says that the cows do not give so much milk or cream. Mr. Olson will fill his silo clear to the top next summer. He is also thinking of a small silo for summer silage. This is the experience of one new convert to the silo. It will be the experience of every man who puts up a silo in Oneida county.

On that farm where the silo is put up we ought to find next fall a nice alfalfa plot. Corn silage furnishes one side of a ration. But it must have something to go with it to make cattle do their best and to get the most out of the silage. Alfalfa will furnish the other side of the ration. Alfalfa is a little peculiar to get started. Farmers need to study the crop. But it will pay. Remember that alfalfa has about two-thirds of the feeding value of bran. So it is a great saving to grow alfalfa. If you cannot put in a half acre, better put in a little any way. A rod square will make a good plot to learn upon. Most of the farmers who tried out alfalfa last summer and did the work well and according to directions are enthusiastic about the crop and will enlarge their alfalfa plots. Better try out alfalfa this summer.

Quite a number of farmers are inquiring about lime. The agricultural representative has the names of a number who desire to secure lime. To get lime cheapest it is best to get it in car lots of fifty tons. It will cost $12 to load the car and about $65 freight to get the car to Rhinelander. You see then that a ton will cost about $1.50. Lime ought to be applied to alfalfa plots at the rate of about two tons to the acre. And farmers are seeding to clover this spring would do well to put on from 1000 to 2000 pounds to the acre or the land to be seeded. Any farmer who desires to secure some lime had better see the agricultural representative at once.

The agricultural representative can secure a splendid pure bred Guernsey sire of serviceable age at a very reasonable figure. This sire is splendidly marked and comes of good breeding. Now is the time for someone in a community to buy a sire and get his neighbors to patronize him.

The agricultural representative has had opportunity to compare the way some men in this new county are doing with some of the ways that men in older counties are doing. This comparison very much encourages the agricultural representative with the progress being made in Oneida county. Oneida county is going to be a great county. It is sure to be one of the greatest dairy sections in the world. But we must get high producing dairy stock. The best way to do this is to get a good pure bred sire into each community. Then back the stock up with good silage alfalfa and clover and this county will be unsurpassed in agricultural wealth. Who will be the first to call to look up this Guernsey sire?

PAPER FROM THE OLD HOME TOWN

When the evening shade is falling at the ending of the day, An' a feller rests from labor, smokin' in' at his pipe o' clay, There's nothin' does him so much good, be fortune up or down, As the little country paper from his Old Home Town.

It ain't a thing of beauty and its print ain't always clean, But it straightens out his temper when a feller's feelin' mean, It takes the wrinkles off his face an' brushes off the frown, That little country paper from his Old Home Town.

It tells of all the parties an' the balls, of Pumpkin Row, 'Bout who spent Sunday with who's girl, an' how crops'll grow, An' it keeps a feller posted 'bout who's up and who is down, That little country paper from his Old Home Town.

Now, I like to read the dailies an' the story papers, too, An' at times the yaller novels an' some other trash—don't you? But when I want some readin' that'll brush away a frown, I want that little paper from my Old Home Town.

Women may vote for state superintendent at election next Tuesday. There is a hot campaign on for this office. The vote of women will be looked on with interest at this time of so much suffrage agitation.

The first of the week we had a heavy rain storm and looked as though the streets might be flooded again, but Street Commissioner Sam Moberg was right on the job, as he always is, and succeeded in getting the gutters open permitting the water to flow away.

Louis Stumpfer in the fifth ward served several terms from the second ward so the office of councilman will not be new to him. C. H. Roepcke in the sixth ward has been alderman from his ward several years and knows the work of the office well.

Several years ago the office of Superintendent of Schools was taken out of politics. State Superintendent of Schools C. P. Cary has tried to keep his office out of politics. His opponent, William Kittle, is backed by a party machine. Which will you support?

Within the past few days appeal after appeal has come from Madison for the New North to support William Kittle for state superintendent of schools. Cary because he has kept his office out of politics and proposes to keep it out.

The municipal election takes place next Tuesday and in several instances new candidates are running against men who have had large experience in their respective positions. If these men have done faithful work they certainly ought to be better prepared to fill the offices than new men. If they have not, of course, they should be defeated. It is left to the constituents to decide this matter and vote according to their best judgment.

WEEK OF DISASTERS

Tornadoes and floods have this week caused the deaths of thousands of persons and made property losses amounting to tens of millions.
One of the worst floods in the history of the United States resulted in the loss of 6,000 lives in Ohio and Indiana. 900 are dead in Dayton, Ohio, which city suffered the worst. Fire is adding to the horror of the situation and late dispatches state that many buildings are in flames.
Omaha was swept by a tornado Sunday causing a death toll of over 100.

C. P. CARY

At the coming election, April 1, the voters of the state of Wisconsin have the opportunity of voicing their sentiments on the question of the election of a superintendent of public instruction. For this office C. P. Cary of Madison, present occupant of the office, is a candidate for re-election. His qualifications for the position are set forth so clearly in his statement to his friends throughout the state that it is published below and most heartily endorsed. Mr. Cary is a man whom the state can not afford to lose the service of and he should be given a rousing endorsement.

Ten years ago the people of this state took the office of state superintendent of schools out of politics, placed the election in the spring along with the judges of the supreme court, and provided by law that no candidate for the office should be permitted to any party name in pressing his candidacy. The purpose doubtless was to give professional dignity, independence and a reasonable degree of permanence to the position.

The state superintendent has kept the office out of politics—not always an easy task. He and his assistants have devoted themselves strictly and with their best energies to the educational matters that come within the sphere of duties and responsibilities of the office. The office is working with the best of team work for the educational welfare of the state.

THE STATE SUPERINTENDENCY

The momentous question before the voters at the ensuing election is that of state superintendent of public instruction. After an unusually able and conscientious administration of this important branch in the state service for ten years the state machine has given Mr. Cary an opponent whom they ask the voters to endorse. Mr. Kittle, who for a like period has held down a berth as clerk in the Board of Normal Regents, is the man fixed upon to defeat Cary, and they ask this endorsement upon what they term Mr. Kittle's "record." We didn't know he had any record. At any rate to talk about his "record" in comparison with the splendid work of Mr. Cary is an insult to the intelligence of the voters of the state. Mr. Cary's work is an open book at least to all who are interested in and have kept step with common school development, and it can be said without fear of successful contradiction that the largely improved conditions in common school affairs in this state over ten years ago are largely due to Mr. Cary's untiring efforts against great opposition during all this time.

The question of common school efficiency is largely that of money and in comparison with the zeal for the propagation of new and untried fads, and providing funds for the same with a lavish hand, the funds provided for the betterment of the schools have been parsimonious in the extreme. In fact, when a cry arose some years since against the increased state expenditures, and an attempt was made at retrenchment, it was decided to cut into the school money—the mill tax was reduced 20 per cent, while the rest was left untouched and allowed to grow.

The great trouble with Prof. Cary is that he has kept his department out of politics. He has not permitted his force to become available for political work and he proposes to keep that status quo if he is re-elected. For that reason he should be re-elected, if for no other, and for that reason, too, he will be endorsed by the majority of the voters in this state. That sentiment seems to be so pronounced everywhere that the one who can no longer be doubted. It is simply the duty of every conscientious voter to see to it that our schools are kept out of politics, by voting for Mr. Cary.

HENRY P. PETERSON.

COOPERATIVE CREAMERIES

The advance sheets of the report of the Wisconsin State Board of Public Affairs furnish very interesting reading. Part I, deals with Agricultural Cooperation. On page 41 the report takes up the dairy industry of Wisconsin and discusses the cooperative creamery and cheese factory. It says "The early experience of Wisconsin farmers in the dairy industry at the time of the substitution of machine methods is similar to that of Ireland. As in Ireland, while the farmers debated and discussed the best type or organization, private individuals organized scores of joint stock factories which worked primarily for dividends on stock and only incidentally for returns to the farmers supplying milk to the factories. The early experience of Ireland was repeated in Wisconsin and in some quarters is still being repeated. Many privately owned factories made fortunes for their owners in a few years and were then sold out to others who followed the examples of their predecessors. These private owned companies offered for a brief period high prices to attract the farmers. Later they quoted prices for their milk, which always left a sufficient margin to the owners to pay factory expenses and a good return on the stock invested. Complaints became general. The farmers were not receiving just returns for the milk, and following exactly the example of the Irish farmers, organized joint stock companies." The report goes on to say that these companies did not prove satisfactory to farming communities and then the next step was towards some form of cooperative organization. "From the hundreds of letters which we have received from cooperative cheese factories and creameries, we are convinced that the most permanent and satisfactory results are secured in those places where the patrons own, operate and manage the factory or creamery."

Success has followed cooperative creameries in Wisconsin. The dairy sections of Minnesota have prospered by the adoption of the cooperative plan. Scores of prosperous farming communities have sprung up around cooperative creameries. One of the main reasons for the success of these creameries is the fact that the quality and condition of the cream can be controlled. The people know each other. They work together to put out a clean product. The quality of the butter produced is high. The farmers and consumers reap the benefits of the business. It would seem that the cooperative creamery would prove an immense benefit to several communities in this county and region.

THE GREATEST TEN YEARS

An analysis of the educational history of Wisconsin shows conclusively that during the last ten years more good, wholesome, progressive educational laws relating to the common and high schools of the state have been enacted than during any other ten years since Wisconsin was admitted to the union. It can not be claimed that Mr. Cary alone is responsible for this decade of progress. That he has been a potent factor, however, in assisting to enact progressive legislation and that he has ever been ready to support the right and suppress the wrong must be admitted by those who have any knowledge of Wisconsin's educational affairs during this period.

It is a matter of great satisfaction to this Journal to note as the campaign progresses that, led by the judgment of ninety per cent of the teachers of the state, the people are realizing that this office of state superintendent of public instruction is altogether too great and responsible a one to be handed over to the politicians. They feel secure in returning Mr. Cary to office and do not seem to care to make any experiments with his comparatively untried and inexperienced rival—Wisconsin School Journal.

TESTING GARDEN SEED

Failure of Crop Often Attributed to Poor Stand

Vitality or Germinating Power Impaired by Various Causes, Such as Lack of Maturity, Improper Storing or in Curing.

Very often the cause of a crop failure can be attributed to a poor stand. No matter how good the soil, the seed, the season, or the cultivation, if there is a poor stand, the yield is decreased. A poor stand, writes S. Van Smith in Farm News, requires about as much time, work and expense in cultivation as a good one.

An important factor in the cause of poor stands is poor seeds. Seed may have its vitality or germinating power impaired from a variety of causes, such as lack of maturity, improper curing, or storing under unfavorable conditions. Very often the seed has spent itself germinating before it is planted, or perhaps it is too cold.

To avoid poor stands, seeds should be tested before planting. This is a very simple operation and requires but a few minutes. There are several simple methods of testing seeds, probably most of which will answer the purpose.

One of the simplest and quickest ways is to test between blotting paper. First, count out 100 seeds of the kind to be tested, taking them just as they come, and not picking out the best-looking ones. Scatter the seeds between two pieces of blotting paper from 4 to 6 inches square, and place in a common china plate, and turn another plate bottom side up over the first. If pastebord plates can be had, they are better, especially if a large number of samples are to be tested.

In this case all the plates containing samples of seed can be stacked up, each plate being placed right side up upon the one beneath. This makes each plate a cover for the one beneath it, and holds the blotting paper down closely to the seeds, preventing too rapid drying out.

The seeds should be placed in the living room to secure a temperature favorable to germination. Care should be taken that the seeds are not kept too wet, as germination takes place more readily under barely moist conditions. Strength of such germination should be noted, for it is not enough that a seed germinate. It should germinate strongly to be a good seed. Seeds which germinate weakly in such tests may not be strong enough to make a good plant under field conditions.

If molds form quickly on the seeds they are likely to be old stock. If 100 seeds are taken, the number that germinates can be taken as the percentage of germination. If scant, the seed should not be planted. If good, or indifferent, it may be planted, making the proper allowance germinate.

Green Alfalfa

German experimenters found that green alfalfa put into an unwallied pit in July and taken out in March had decreased in weight by practically 33 1/3 per cent. The outer layers were more or less moldy, and in some places the silage was partially charred.

Beet leaves and tops allowed in the stock on the ground in October contained 6,556 kilograms of dry matter, and about 5,222 kilograms at the end of January. Corn stover silage made in an iron concrete silo suffered only a slight loss in nutritment, as shown by experiments, and this loss was offset by increased palatability, something which always counts for much.

Good Profits in Popcorn

With popcorn so popular an article of consumption as it is, there is no farm in any section of the corn belt that should not grow a patch to supply the family needs. Popcorn will do well on any land that will produce a good crop of corn.

It should be cultivated and cared for in the same general manner as corn, though it may be planted more closely. It ripens in about 100 days, and it should be shocked as soon as it is ripe, so that it will dry out well before husking. It will produce from 50 to 60 bushels of ears with a good stand, and this will fetch from $1 to $2 per bushel.

To Keep Room Fragrant.
You will find any room delightfully freshened if you will fill a bowl full of boiling water, then pour on the top a few drops of oil of lavender. Leave the bowl in the room for a few minutes. This will be appreciated especially by those whose dining room is near the kitchen. When used just before dinner is served it counteracts kitchen odors.

Making H. C. C.
The breakfast table ordered a half-butt steak. The waiter returned to an ounce that a steak could not be served, but that a hot was possible. "The flet comes from here," he explained, laying two fresh steaks on his side and speaking as one patently good habit to another.

Somewhat F. G. G.
It is just about as easy to buy replacement as it is to grow a sunbeam.

Hatching Eggs Small End Down.
A poultry authority says that if the egg is placed on one side or large end heavy yolk will settle to the bottom and come in contact with the shell, which admits the air. If it is placed on the small end, it will always have a layer of white between it and the shell.

Will Balance Own Ration.
Hens will lay better when fed those foods which they like. If left alone a hen will balance her own ration with palatable foods. She does not like musty grains or spoiled meats, etc.

Nature's Balance of Power.

In view of facts, one is almost willing to accept the statement of a well-known French scientist, who has asserted that without birds to check the ravages of insects, human life would vanish from this planet in the space of nine years. But for the vegetation the insects would perish; but for the insects the birds would perish, and but for the birds vegetation would be destroyed. Nature has, therefore, formed a delicate balance of power which cannot be disturbed without bringing great loss and unhappiness to the world.

EVENTS OF WEEK IN OTHER TOWNS

Items Of More Or Less Importance Boiled Down From Neighboring Exchanges

Antigo—

John McCormick died Friday from the effects of injuries received while scuffling with a cousin. He was accidentally struck in the right temple in such a manner as to cause hemorrhage of the brain. The deceased was a popular young man about the city and up until a short time ago was employed as clerk at the Hotel Bell in Wausau.

Ironwood—

The Michigan State Telephone Co. closed the deal for the purchase from Harry Burr of a piece of property on Lowell street, on which they will erect a two-story brick structure to be occupied as their local exchange. The material for rebuilding of the system here has been received and the company will make extensive improvements.

Wausau—

This city has a haunted house. Two families who lived in the dwelling have experienced the visits of "specks" and one family moved from fright. One man who slept in the house to investigate claims to have been thrown twice out of bed when the room door was locked. Figures draped in white have been seen flitting about the premises and strange uncanny noises are frequently heard. The police are endeavoring to solve the mystery.

Merrill—

The prospects are favorable that this city will have a pickling station. The station is assured the city providing Merrill merchants can interest the farmers in this vicinity to cultivate acres of pickle crops. The merchants agreed to combine efforts and many have accepted agencies for interesting farmers in the crop.

Stevens Point—

Jim Hall, once noted middleweight pugilist and the hero of many hard fought ring battles, died of tubercu-osis in River Pines sanatorium in this city. Hall was found dying and alone in a miserable shack in Neenah and admirers of the man sent him to the sanatorium. He lived only three days after entering the institution. Hall was fifty-five years of age and in his day was a great ring general, once defeating Bob Fitzsimmons. He made a fortune in the prize ring but squandered it all on fast living.

Escanaba—

The sudden dying out of the wind proved a most fortunate occurrence for a big black bear which is roaming the wilds somewhere near here. Four boys in an ice boat saw a black object on Bay de Noc about two miles from them and immediately started after it. As they got nearer they saw it was a bear. They had no weapons but believed they could kill the bear by colliding with it and put on full speed ahead. When within a half mile of the animal the wind died out so that they could make almost no headway. Realizing that brain probably would get the best of the collision under circumstances they gave up the pursuit and the bear reached shore and disappeared in the woods.

Ashland—

Wolves are more numerous in Ashland county than one would suppose. Since Jan. 1, $210 has been paid by the county and a like amount by the state on the scalps of wolves. Fred Conklin is the champion wolf hunter and he has succeeded in rid- ding the vicinity of White River of the pests.

Hurley—

F. D. Sullivan formerly interested in the local street railway and electric lighting system was in Iron River last week and submitted the question of a street railway system for Iron River and Sambauch. The councils of those two places and also the Iron River township board looked favorably upon the proposition with the result that the three councils passed ordinances granting to Albert B. Johnston of Bessemer, Florence D. Sullivan, of Ashland, John Holland, of Bessemer, and George W. Robertson the right and authority to construct, operate and maintain a street railway. The ordinance stipulates that work of construction shall begin within six months after the acceptance of the ordinance and that the road must be completed within one year from the date of starting work.

Ashland—

County Judge James McCully had an unusual case before him when George Arbuckle, a 14-year-old boy of Odanah, appeared before him and asked that he be committed to the Industrial school for boys at Wausau. Arbuckle stated that his father died 13 years ago and that his mother remarried. His mother left him to be taken care of by relatives and the boy, who is unusually large for his age, has worked at various jobs. A brother of young Arbuckle was committed to the state school from Shell Lake several months ago and the glowing reports that he has written to his brother of the state institution has aided in the boy's determination that he would like to go there.

IN EAGLE RIVER

Statements of Eagle River Citizens
Are Always of Interest to Our Readers

To many of our readers the streets of Eagle River are almost as familiar as those of our own town, and we are naturally interested to read of happenings there. The following report from a well known and respected resident will be helpful to numbers of men and women here in Rhineland.

James Oberholtzer, Eagle River Wis., says: "Five or six years ago, my limbs began to swell and doctors told me that my kidneys were badly disordered. I was hardly able to get about and although I took medicine faithfully, I did not improve. When almost about to give up, I despaired, I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and did. In a short time I was cured and since have enjoyed good health."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
